FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1818.

[No. 5281.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,
A sovereign remedy for colds, obsteinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.— To persons who have children afflicted with the WOOLLY COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.
Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back Loss of appetite Indigestion Impurity of blood Melancholy Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.
A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.
An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.
A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops
For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

THERE came to the stables of the a person calling himself MR. PEYTON,

and obtained a horse and gig on hire, &c. he said, to go to Elliott's Mills, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high; apgenteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.

a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue

THE NEW MANTA.
Of late when the Greenland-bound ships had set sail,
And the shot at Lord Wellington happened to fall,
A strange dearth of topics began to prevail.
No subject was offered to interest fashion, No touching new Mania or whimsical passion—
The prince had exhausted his patterns of dress,
And Lord Byron's fourth canto was still in the press:
While the world look'd and languish'd in silent attention,
Some clever soul hit on a famous invention—
'Tis a tube made of brass, pewter, copper or tin,
With a hole at one end of it, where you look in.
And see—gracious Heavens! you see such a sight,
Should I try to describe it, 'twould take me all night:
The exquisite figures and colours you can see
No painter can copy, no poet can fancy;
You see—what must all you've before seen surpass:
You see—some small old broken pieces of glass.
Need I tell you, indeed, that with such preparation,
So lovely a bauble has caused a sensation—I doubt whether Bilboquet, monarch of toys,
Or the devil himself ever made such a noise;
'Tis the favourite plaything of school-boy and sage,
Of the baby in arms, and the baby of age,
Of the grandam whose sight is at best problematical,
And the soph who explains it by rule mathematical,
Of the saint who in vain tries to laugh at and mock it,
Yet, ten to one, carries a brace in his pocket.
All are bit in their turn, from the belles who have borne it,
I am told to the op'ra, instead of a loguette,
To the cripple who makes them, "so pretty and cheap."
And hawks them about at a "penny a peep," Such indeed is the rage for them, chapel or church in.
You see them about you, and each little urchin Finding a sixpence, with transport beside his hope,
Runs to the flaman, and makes a Kaleidoscope."

KALEIDOSCOPE.

The rage for that most entertaining and ingenious instrument, the Kaleidoscope, is becoming so universal, that it is thought that Dr. Brewster would have made an immense fortune by this fashionable toy, if he had used more precaution in bringing it forward. It is, however, doubted, whether he could have maintained his claim to the originality of the invention, though it is believed, from the known integrity of his character, that he certainly thought the invention original. A London paper says, that a volume printed in 1710, describes this machine literally, and gives a plate by which any person might make it. The book is entitled "New Improvement of planting and gardening, by Richard Bradley, F. R. S." It was recommended to be applied to the improvement of the figures to garden plants and flower beds, then much used.

There is at present scarcely a family in Liverpool in which you may not find a Kaleidoscope, and in London, Bath, &c. we are told, they are still more universal.

The following petition from a female convict under sentence of death in Newgate, London, to the Prince Regent, is a simple, beautiful and affecting composition.
It also contains an expression of feeling, and reference to facts which may be productive of good, but cannot possibly by any perversion, bring forth evil.

To his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, &c. the most humble petition of —

"Sheweth—that at an age when judgment was imperfect, and seduction strong, she was drawn from her father's house by the artifices of a villain.

"That degraded by her crime in the estimation of her family, when the hour of repentance came, no friendly door invited her return.

"That her dependence on her seducer was increased, while his attention to her abated, and that in a distracted hour she purchased the continuance of his protection by a breach of the law.

"That her life must be forfeited for her crime, unless the contrition which she hopes has appeased her God, may obtain for her the compassion of her Prince—And that she is not now more solicitous for life, than her prayers shall ever be devout for the generous author of her pardon."

ALEXANDRIA: FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 17, 1818.

Mr. SNOWDEN,

On reading a critique in your paper of this morning, on the 4th canto of Childe Harold, I was struck with a sentence which comprehends the essence of the turgid, or bombast style. The writer says, "The dedication to Mr. Hobhouse, shows that his bosom, (Lord Byron's) however obscured with clouds it may be, when his own fate is the guest, blazes with no vulgar lustre, when thrown open for the reception of a friend."

In this sentence we have a perfect glitter of figure: first, there is a bosom obscured by clouds—without a pun, a very cloudy metaphor; then, "fate is the guest of that bosom"—an admirable touch of the figure called prosopopeia; "vulgar lustre," is but a vulgar figure; lastly, this bosom is thrown open for Mr. Hobhouse, his friend, who enters (not through the clouds, which are now converted, by a broken metaphor, into folding doors) and takes his seat by the side of the "fate" of Byron, amidst the blaze.

Why this outdoes even orator Phillips—nay, it excels the example given by Mar-tius Scriblerus, in his "Art of sinking in poetry," of a true genius, who if he looks upon a tempest, he shall have an image of a troubled bed, and describe a succeeding calm in this manner:

"The ocean, joy'd to see the tempest fled, New lays his waves, and smooths his ruffled bed."

Were the old classical writers—Addison, Swift, Sir Wm. Temple, Goldsmith, and others—more read, we should not meet with so many sins against good taste, as are to be perceived in the paragraphists of the day.

FOR THE GAZETTE.

The system of morals which all nations and governments have taken pains to inculcate, is included in practical philosophy, and is not speculative, since the violation of its rules is a matter that interests society and every member of the body politic. If it be merely theoretical, the infringement of its precepts would not affect mankind: no temporal tribunal hath, or can have jurisdiction over the private opinion of any individual.

"The distinction between moral good and evil," says an author on morals, "is not derived from reason, but from a moral sense." It is not necessary to examine this distinction on the present occasion; suffice it to say, that conscience is a more active principle, which establishes permanent, eternal measures of right and wrong, which are obligatory on all men. If men were to conform their actions and conduct to the advice of this monitor, they would abstain from the commission of every species of vice and immorality. It would be considered a violation of honor, principle and honesty, to defraud a man of his property —to slander and calumniate his character —to rob him of his money under pretext of an equal hazard. Such conduct is inconsistent with moral rectitude and integrity.
It is the motive which renders the act acceptable or laudable; the action itself is only the sign of the principle which produced it.

If any one would be judged by this rule and plead in extenuation of his conduct, that his motive was not criminal, let him remember that it is a just rule of construction, that the motive or intention can only be discovered by the overt act. There are only two sources of information whence all our knowledge is derived—sensation and reflection. When any act is disagreeable or repugnant to our feelings, and conscience condemns it; also, when on reflection, reason reproves an action, we may immediately pronounce that action vicious or immoral—and thence our duty demands an amendment of our conduct. Vice consists in the violation of moral, temporal, and divine law; in like manner virtue consists in a conformity to these sanctions.
The definition of law is sanctio iusta, jubenus honesta et prohibens contraria, "a just sanction commanding what is right, and prohibiting what is wrong." Again, we see in 1st Faublanque—"It is plain, law is a moral science, since the end of all law is justice; and justice, in its most extensive signification, differs little from virtue itself: the common distinction between them is, that the same, when considered positively and in itself, is called virtue; when considered relatively, and with regard to others, is called justice."

Nature hath endowed man with reason and conscience. He owes the sovereignty of the universe: a natural allegiance for this gift, as well as for the comforts and blessings he hath bestowed upon him.—He is bound then to be a faithful and obedient subject; to observe his holy law, which will make him moral and religious.

Religion being the basis on which the founded the most permanent and complete system of ethics, it has been the wise policy of most governments to diffuse the gospel, in order to promote the happiness of mankind in the world to come. It is to be hoped that superstition, bigotry and fanaticism will yield to the dictates of reason and conscience, corrected by divine law.

The connexion between religion and morality is such, that some mistake the one for the other, and think themselves pious if they be merely moral. This is a terrible error, which may be easily corrected by an appeal to the heart, conscience, and our God. The line of demarcation is plain and evident. Religion includes the whole circle of morals; morality cannot include religion; the lesser cannot include the greater. The science which teaches the duty of this life, is as distinct from that which prepares us for the life to come, as the soul is from the body. Religion then is the chief bond of civil society—the tie which binds man to man, and to his God, and engages him as a good and obedient subject to the performance of his duties to the temporal and divine government.— teaches his responsibility as a moral and free agent to his Maker and to the constituted authority—and informs him of the danger of infringing its laws, by the punishment which follows as a necessary consequence.

The logic of the moralist ought to go to prove the importance and necessity of religion. If he can do this, he has taken the most effectual means of attaining his end.

FATAL OCCURRENCE!

We understand that at Nottoway courthouse on Thursday last, it being court-day, a rencontre took place between Dr. Bacon, son of Major Bacon, and Dr. John S. Har-daway, in which each party used the dirk.
Dr. Hardaway was mortally wounded, and expired on Saturday. Doctor Bacon was wounded in three places, but his wounds are not considered fatal. We are not informed of the particulars of this rencontre.

Charleston, July 10.

We continue to receive the most distressing accounts of the great drought which pervades throughout this and the neighboring states. The cotton crops are nearly one half destroyed, and grain of every description perishing for the want of rain. The largest reservoirs in our low country are entirely exhausted, and it is with great difficulty that a sufficiency of water is procured upon the most extensive plantations, to relieve the cattle which wander in search of it. In one of the upper sections of the state of Georgia, not a drop of rain has fallen from the heavens for thirty-nine days, and the dews were so light and moderate as to afford but slight relief to the dejected hopes of the planter.
The high price of cotton during the last year, unexampled we believe in the history of our commerce, has induced many rich and opulent planters to devote themselves almost exclusively to the cultivation of so lucrative a crop—and fears were entertained that even with the best of seasons, the grain harvest would have fallen far short of the quantity necessary for our consumption.
It is painful to contemplate the distresses to which our unfavorable seasons will, in all probability, reduce many poor but industrious families, who, with but scanty resources, will be necessitated to pay the most exorbitant prices for the simplest and most indispensable necessities of life.

On Saturday last was taken up in this place and committed to prison, two men—one by the name of Thomas Rogers, and the other John McIntosh, alias Price, for passing counterfeit money of the Potomac bank, signed John Porter, president; and J. White, cashier—and sixty-seven ten dollar bills of the Bank of the State of N.
York, payable at New-York, James Patterson, president, and J. Burton, cashier—and seventeen two dollar bills of the State Bank of North-Carolina. They passed one fifty dollar bill of the Potomac Bank, and one ten dollar bill of the Bank of the State of New-York. The remainder were found in their possession at the time and place when taken. The whole of the said bills are believed to be forgeries.

FROM MARGARETTA.
The Venezuelan private armed schr.
Carony, William Saunders, master, arrived at this port on Sunday evening last.— The Carony was bound to New-York, but on Thursday last in lat. 30, 08, lon. 78, 30, she fell in with a Spanish sloop of war, by whom she was much crippled: but by great exertion and swift sailing made her escape, as will appear by the following extract from her log book:—
"On the 2d inst. fell in with a brig much the appearance of a cruiser—when she immediately bore down upon us with the Buenos Ayrean colors flying. We hoisted our ensign—the brig hauled down the B.
A. flag and hoisted the Spanish royal flag of Spain, and commenced a heavy fire—her crew at the same time giving three cheers.

The brig then kept away under our stern and fired a broadside into us, which cut away our rigging and injured our sails very much. The brig then dropped on our lee quarter, when we took the opportunity and made every exertion to get clear of her, which was done, by getting out sweeps, setting the square sail and all other sails that were manageable; the main halyards being cut away and the mainsail down at the time. After repairing the halyards so as to set the mainsail and gaff topsail, found we left the brig fast—she dropping to leeward—At half past 7 o'clock her shot fell short of us. At 8 P. M. she gave up the chase and tacked to the southward. At day light discovered that three of the shrouds with the jib and main stay were shot away, and standing rigging literally cut to pieces, as well as the sails—having over 300 shot holes in them—one shot in the hull between wind and water, and several above board."

The Carony has put into this port to repair damages.

From the Charleston City Gazette of July 7.
By the schooner Sector, arrived on Sunday, from the Island of Trinidad, we received the papers of that place to the 18th ult.

The American "Act, concerning Navigation," was officially promulgated by the Governor of that Colony, on the 11th ult. for general information, it having been forwarded to him by the Minister of His Britan-nic Majesty in the United States.

A letter from the Brigadier General De La Torre, to Don Pablo Morillo, is published in a Trinidad paper of the 6th ult. in which he states, that he defeated the vanguard of the Patriot army, commanded by General Paez, at Camorico, on the 2d of May, on his march towards St. Carlos.— The loss of the Patriots is stated at one thousand, and that of the Royalists at one hundred, killed and wounded. General Paez is said to have been shot through the body, and General De La Torre was wounded.

From the same of July 9.

LATE FROM HAVANA.
By Captain Snow, of the brig Alert, arrived on Tuesday evening, in 3 days from Havana, we learn, that about three days before he sailed, two small American schrs.
of about sixty tons each, arrived there from Pensacola, having on board some officers, soldiers, &c. part of the late Spanish garrison at that post. Three other vessels sailed in company with them, and were daily expected at Havana.

The intelligence of the capture of Pensacola by the American forces, had excited no little commotion at Havana. A Council had been called, and it was reported had determined on seizing on all American vessels and property; but the Governor was opposed to the execution of so harsh and decisive a measure. Another Council was to be convened, when it was supposed something definitive would be determined upon. Under this impression, we understand, the consignee of the Alert hurried her off.

Such was the exasperation among the lower classes of people, at the above news, that the Americans in port were afraid to remain on shore after night-fall.

Two or three Spanish ships, under convoy of a British frigate, arrived at Havana from Vera Cruz a short time previous to the Alert's sailing, with specie.

The fever was prevalent at Havana—the inhabitants on shore suffering more severely than the seafaring people on ship-board.
The mate of a Baltimore schooner has drawn the high prize of 20,000 dollars in a late Havana lottery.

Markets were generally dull; Rice and Flour maintained tolerable prices.

From the Literary Journal of May 10.
Received at the office of the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Review of a Journal of a visit to South Africa, in 1815 and 1816; with some account of the Missionary Settlement of the United Brethren. By the Rev. C. J. Latrobe—London, 4to. 1818.

The volume before us is a handsome book and contains a map of the southern division of the Cape of Good Hope colony, with 16 plates, (chiefly colored) from drawings taken on the spot, and which form interesting illustrations. Mr. Latrobe is a preacher amongst the Moravians, or United Brethren, a zealous assistant in, and conductor of their extensive missions, and unites the rare qualities of a gentleman, a cheerful companion, abounding in original humor, with the sterling merits of a truly pious character, and a mind refined and accomplished.
As a very superior composer and performer of sacred music, Mr. Latrobe is also well known to the public. That an individual so enlightened should have been fixed upon for investigating the country near the Cape, for the purpose of choosing a new situation to establish a settlement, as well as for arranging some business with the governor, can excite no surprise. The result has been very satisfactory to the interests of the mission, and has presented us with this volume of interesting observations. Our limits preclude us from minutely following Mr. Latrobe's narrative; but the general outline of his voyage and journey we shall state, omitting those parts which particularly refer to his religious and political opinions. Of the latter it is, however, proper to remark, that they are strictly British.

On the first of October, 1816, Mr. Latrobe sailed from Gravesend; and he gives us many reflections that occurred in the mind of a landman on his finding himself encompassed by a new element.

"On the 9th of November, a shoal of porpoises surrounded the ship, and amused us much by their playfulness, and the astonishing swiftness of their motions. They are said to be the forerunners of a storm."

"The waves frequently broke over the fore part of the ship, and sometimes even approached us, as we sat on the quarter deck. For above two hours the moon shone bright, every now and then seeming to step behind some dark swift flying cloud, and to come forth again with redoubled lustre.

The funning edges of the waves appear, at a distance, like long lines of phosphoric light, chasing each other; and whenever a wave dashes over the decks, the sparks it contains run with the water to and fro, as the ship rolls from side to side. On the 18th flying fish made their first appearance, and on that account it was hoped that dolphins were not far off; we prepared with great eagerness of expectation to revenge the cause of these defenceless creatures, by an attack on the pursuers; but in vain, for none approached the ship. On the 19th, a shoal of bonnetas played about the ship; and in the afternoon a large turtle was observed asleep, floating close to the ship. On the 21st, the Island of Madeira appeared far to the westward. 24th, at day-break, land was discovered to the southeast, being the Salvages, considered as belonging to the Madeira Islands, and uninhabited. On the 20th, Tenerife, with its peak, showed itself; 22d, we passed close to Palma. On the 5th, at day-break, land was seen; it was Sal, one of the Cape de Verde Islands.
In the evening some flying fish fell on board; their bodies are shaped somewhat like a herring, with large eyes; their wings, or flying fins, reach nearly to their tails, and spread 3 inches; but when dry, they can no longer support the fish above the water.
After morning service the Island of Bona-vista was in sight. 6th.—This morning we had a pleasing exhibition of the wonderful swiftness and agility of a host of bottlenosed porpoises. For half an hour they played and frisked about the ship's bow, leaving out of the water, pursuing each other, tumbling head over tail, and performing all kinds of tricks. On the 6th, a considerable storm took place, a wave broke two of the cabin windows, and oversteamed all the books, papers, and whatever lay on the lockers. In the evening, a hawk perched on the foreyard, and was taken; she was a beautiful bird. I protested against her destruction, as contrary to all rules of hospitality, but could not save her. On the 17th, we caught a fish; it was an albicore, and had a flying fish in its stomach: its length was two feet, its color dark green with darker stripes, and spots on the back; its belly is of the most brilliant mother-of-pearl, its mouth small, the body narrow across the back, and the belly sloping off to an inch and a half at the root of the tail; the latter is vertical and forked. It had six fins; two on the breast, one on each side, and two dorsal fins, from which, to the root of the tail, six small triangular fins were placed in a row. On the 18th we crossed the line, when the usual ceremonies took place—Neptune and his wife appeared in the persons of the black carpenter and second mate. On the 3d of December, a species of that curious animal, called by some the Portuguese man of war, was thrown by a wave into the main chain, and brought on deck for our inspection. It seemed to be a young one; its body only three inches long, and shaped like that of a snail, quite transparent, of a light cerulean blue, passing into green towards the head, which had a crest like a fan, also transparent and tinged with purple at the top. A number of antennae of a deep blue color proceeded from the body, and a tail from three to four feet long, looking like a string of small blue beads. On examining it, Mr. Buck happened to prick its body with a sharp point of a penknife; it instantly shrunk together and almost vanished, nothing but a small pulpy substance remaining. On the 5th we were visited by various kinds of water fowl, Cape pigeons, Mother Carey's chickens, and several birds, with long beaks, unknown to us; in general we have lately appeared as if we were quite alone, swimming in this vast ocean, not a creature approaching us. On the 14th, a small species of catfish was thrown on board; and on the 15th the captain shot two albatrosses.
This is a magnificent bird; it is of the purest white, covered with the most beautiful downy plumage. A small pretty bird, called the Cape pigeon, also came on board.
About noon, for several hours, when the heavens were remarkably cloudless, but the air filled with a reddish haze, the sun was surrounded by a very large perihelion, in appearance about ten diameters from its orb; towards the east its brightness was so great that it faintly showed prismatic colors. On the 16th the air and water seemed filled with all kinds of birds flying or swimming, and a shark was seen scudding along on some murderous errand. On the 23d the second mate roused us from our dullness by calling out "land!" It was the Table mountain; we were exceedingly delighted with the view before us. On the 24th, a breeze sprang up, and we sailed forwards; a grampus followed us and numerous large gulls. Cape-town presents itself at the foot of the Table mountain: the company landed, and were comfortably situated in the Grange Street.—After we walked to see the town, and entered the governor's, late the Company's, gardens. The avenues are planted with oak of luxuriant foliage, skirted on each side with hedges of myrtle. Within a stone fence, several ostriches and other birds, and in separate buildings a lion, a lioness, and tiger are kept. The variety of faces, complexions, and dresses, seen amongst these people is striking. The greatest part are black or tawny. Not many Hottentots.— Many are Mahometans; but there appears little religious animosity amongst them.
As to the Christian inhabitants; the English, Dutch Calvinists, and Lutherans possess the churches. There are some vineyards; the vines grow without espaliers, placed in rows, like current-bushes in our gardens. Fences of the large aloe, and of cactus, or Indian figs, are common. Passing through the premises of Mr. Zorn, we observed a fine moneoson, or manehund, from Java, a species of viverra.—It was a beautiful creature, about a foot long with a sharp snout; the body is richly clothed with long hair; its color is a dark olive.

On leaving Cape-town, Mr. Latrobe's party had four waggons; the first drawn by twelve, and the second by fourteen bul-locks. We regret our inability to extract much useful and interesting information concerning the method of travelling, and the natural productions, both vegetable and mineral, they met with. In a thicket they saw a snake, hastening with a young frog entangled in its coils; but its swiftness was such, that with all their exertion to destroy it, they only rescued the captive; and Brother Schmitt pointed out a place where, some years ago, he narrowly escaped death, in a encounter with a tiger. They now arrived at Groenklouf, a missionary settlement, where Mr. Latrobe feelingly des-cants upon his joy at seeing so many who were lately wretched, ignorant, and wicked heathen, brought together as a people of God. This settlement is a fruitful field in the midst of a desert. A coloured engraving here is subjoined. The number of inhabitants in this settlement, in the year 1815, amounted to three hundred. The following is an account of a cavern.

"Calling on Mr. Poleman, he gave me an account of a remarkable cavern in a range, a part of the district of Zwellendam, from whence he had brought some singular specimens. It is, by his account, one of the largest subterranean excavations in the known world; whose vast chambers and dark recesses have not yet been fully explored. Stalactites in some of its halls are from sixteen to 24 feet in height, forming majestic groups of columns, supporting in appearance, immense domes. Mr. Pole-man, whose ardour led him to venture into many passages and cavities never yet visited, was, in some places, prevented from proceeding by huge dunghills made by innumerable hosts of bats which covered the walls and ceilings of this horrid dungeon."

Wolves, jackals and tigers, have a safe retreat among the wolves and rocks thereabout; and during a pedestrian excursion, the travellers met a herd of 10 or 12 baboons on the road.

The cowardly creatures betook themselves speedily to flight, and with astonishing dexterity and swiftness scaled the steep, and to man insensible cliffs, where they made a stand, till the cracks of the Hottentots' whips so frightened them, that they, in an instant disappeared, but kept a hideous yell for some time. Gaudial lies about 125 English miles from Capetown, and is the principal settlement of the United Brethren in South Africa. The mission was begun in 1737. Coloured prints of the approach to, and the inside of the chapel at Gaudial, are given. Many very interesting particulars relative to the converted heathen are here given, as well as characteristic remarks upon their manners, &c. One day when Mr. Latrobe was drawing by the help of a camera-obs-cura, several Hottentots gathered around, who were, one after another, gratified by a peep into it. A woman called to another passing by, "come and peep, Susan, Myneer has brought the church, and all the trees into his box."

As a striking proof of the manners, Mr.
Latrobe describes a visit to a Mr. Linde-ne. "I had expected to find a man formerly in the employ of the government, as a commander of Hottentots in the Caffre war, a Yeldcorant, and justly esteemed as a truly respectable character throughout the country, inhabiting a well built mansion—and I was preparing a handsome apology for not appearing in full dress, till I saw his miserable cottage and homely furniture. But African and English ideas of suiting your appearance to your rank, widely differ—and a man of consequence here is not less respected for the shabbiness of his attire, or the wretched or ruinous state of his house and premises. Brother Botany was highly diverted at my disappointment when Mr. Linde entered, and though clad in an old jacket and trousers and barefoot, the ease and urbanity of his manners shewed him in his true character, as a well bred intelligent gentleman.—The wildness of the scenery can scarcely be surpassed.
Rocks of every shape, weather beaten and worn, pointed and jagged, start on all sides to a great height, one ridge towering above the other; they are the haunts of hosts of baboons. The prospect from the summit of the Kloof over the fertile grounds of Hot-tentots' Holland, and towards Simon's and Table-Bay is delightful."

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

Office of the Albany Register, Sunday Evening, July 12, 1818.

AGGRAVATED ASSASSINATION.

With heartfelt and unfeigned sorrow, we announce the untimely and distressing death of the gallant Major BENJAMIN BIRD-SALL, of the U. States Army. He was shot on parade this evening a few minutes before eight, and his immortal spirit left its tabernacle of clay, in one hour and fifty five minutes afterwards. He was shot by a soldier by the name of HAMILTON, who had been enlisted about three months.— The murder was deliberate, and the monster exults at its perpetration—he is in prison.

Maj. Birdsell was in conversation with Lt. Scott, in front of his market. Hamilton presented himself before them, and said "Major I am here." On being ordered back to the ranks he made ready and discharged his rifle—the ball entered on the right side, passed near the heart and lodged in the flesh near the back bone.

In defending the rights of his country, this high-minded soldier met danger in its most terrific form—was mutilated in the most cruel manner by having his face literally shattered to pieces—has undergone surgical operations of the most agonizing nature—suffered pains indistinguishable—his wounds but just healed—his prospect of reclaiming happiness had barely begun to dawn, and he has fallen the victim of unprovoked ASSASSINATION.

TWO MORE PRIZES DIVIDED.

The most remarkable success continues to attend adventurers at COHEN'S Office, and particularly the purchasers of share tickets. We noted the capital of Twenty Thousand Dollars, drawn on Thursday last in the Medical College Lottery.—We have now to notice the distribution of two more prizes yesterday afternoon from the same office, and in the same lottery, one a floating prize of Ten Thousand Dollars, the o-

The strip is dark and has a rough, uneven texture. The background is a lighter, grainy surface, possibly paper or a wall, with some small dark spots and a slightly mottled appearance. The overall image has a high-contrast, almost abstract quality.

600 acres of Land for sale.
THIS Tract is situated in Westmoreland county, Virginia, adjacent to Mr. Garnett Hunter's Plantation, and contiguous to the waters of the Potomac. The neighborhood is good—water excellent, and very desirable situations for building. A considerable proportion of the land is well timbered, besides a good deal of cedar, pine and other wood, sufficiently convenient to make it an object for those who may be disposed to send it to market—it is nearly equidistant from Baltimore, Washington and Norfolk.
Any one wishing to purchase may apply to ROGER JONES,
Also, a very valuable LOT, containing 140 acres, being a part of the late Mr. John Turberville's tract—within 6 miles of Georgetown, 3 from the Little Falls Bridge, and near to the turnpike leading from thence to Wiley's, in Fairfax county, Va. A great proportion of this land is exceedingly well timbered, and that part which is not, is so recently cleared as to be in an active state for cultivation, and already in a productive condition.—For terms, apply to PALMER C. JONES, esq. in Leesburg, Va. or to R. JONES, March 30

For Sale,
A VALUABLE FARM, containing between six and seven hundred acres of land, the greater part of which is in timber, and adjoins the land of Charles Thift and Edmund J. Lee, esq. and extends to the road from Leesburg to the mill lately known as Miller's Mill, on Goose Creek, and not more than three quarters of a mile from the turnpike road now making. The furthest boundary of this land is not more than three miles from Leesburg, and the nearest, which is in timber, not more than one mile and a half. The timbered land will be laid off into 10 or 15 acre lots, reserving a sufficient quantity for the land now cleared and in cultivation. It is unnecessary to say that this land is as well adapted to plaster as any in that part of the country; and if not sold at private sale previous to the September Leesburg court, will be then offered at public sale, and the terms made known on the day.
There are fifteen or twenty negroes residing on the farm that may be purchased with it if wanted.
LANDOR CARTER,

For Sale,
A valuable Farm in Jefferson county, Virginia.
BY virtue of a decree of the superior court of chancery for the Richmond district in Virginia, in a suit wherein the executors of General George Washington were plaintiffs, and Gerard Alexander, Thomas L. Alexander, (by Ludwell Lee, his appointed guardian in his case) Ludwell Lee, Richard H. L. Washington, John A. Washington, Bushrod C. Washington and Mary Lee Washington, defendants—will be exposed to sale to the highest bidder, for ready money, on the premises, on TUESDAY, the 15th day of September next, all that tract or parcel of Land, lying in Jefferson county, Virginia, on Bullskin, commonly called Rockhall, containing 540 acres, now in the occupation of John Sanders.
The above tract of land lies about 16 miles from Winchester, and about 6 miles from Charles-town, and on the main road leading from Winchester to Baltimore, city of Washington and Alexandria. It is well adapted to plaster and clover, and is in quality little inferior, if at all, to that of any farm in that rich valley. The improvements on it are a large two-story frame dwelling house, barn and other necessary out-houses.—The water is limestone and of excellent quality.
Any person wishing to view the premises will be shown them upon application to John A. Washington or Bushrod C. Washington, living near the land.

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 45, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:
Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges.
Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.
IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.
THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.
All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition; so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Notice.
Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

Notice.
The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.
The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy loaded on mere assertion.
It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.
They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,
A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,
Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Loss of spirits the back Impurity of blood Indigestion Hysterical affections Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.
A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c. &c.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.
An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.
The Genuine Persian Lotion,
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-worms, scabiness, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.
A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness, or of accident.
Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.
For the cure of agues, remittent and intermitent fevers.
At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
